

Act 1: The Empty Life.

Scene 1 - Arrival in Necta

Daev lives with a deep emotional emptiness. Although he recently finished school, he feels lost, lonely, and uncertain about his future. With no clear direction in life and very few opportunities back home, he travels to Necta in search for a job and a fresh beginning.

At first, the town is overwhelming with crowded streets, constant movements, dusty air, and people constantly struggling to survive. Yet beneath the chaos, Daev senses something strangely hopeful about the place.

Scene 2 - The first job

After weeks of searching, Daev finally secures a job as a cashier at one of the largest hotels in Necta. Intelligent, disciplined, and observant, he slowly begins to build his life from nothing.

However, life in Necta is far from easy. The town grows faster than its system can support, creating daily struggles for ordinary people. Prices continue rising, jobs become unstable, and competition is everywhere. Daev continues to work hard and keep up with the pace while trying not to lose himself in the process.

Scene 3 - Survival

Everyday in Necta feels like a race. Crowds move endlessly through the street, everyone chasing money, food, opportunities or survival. To afford even the most basic need, one must work relentlessly, and Daev quickly becomes part of that exhausting cycle.

Despite living alone and having no family to support, he finds himself constantly overwhelmed by expenses and pressure. As life becomes more difficult, he moves into a smaller dormitory house to cut on cost.

There, he reunites with an old friend who happened to have moved to Necta in search for a job and a better life.

Scene 4 - Gidi

His friend's name is Gidi.

Gidi is naturally charming, funny and easy to like, but he lacks discipline and direction. Rather than building his future, he indulges in entertainment, alcohol and nightlife.

Most nights, Gidi returns home heavily drunk, sometimes late at night and other times at dawn. He contributes almost nothing to the house, leaving Daev to carry all the responsibilities alone.

At first, Daev tolerates the behavior out of friendship. But as months pass, the burden slowly begins draining him emotionally, financially and mentally.

Final scene - A new direction

After years of struggle, exhaustion and emotional emptiness, Daev reaches a turning point in his life. He realizes he can not remain trapped in the same poverty cycle forever.

Determined to change his future, he applies for university and is unexpectedly accepted at Moi University.

For the first time in many year, Daev is hopeful and determined to change his life into something meaningful.
